

why does the wall's surface pattern goes through the reveals instead of stopping where the reveals are?